

There is currently a 'do not call' telemarketing list which works quite effectively in Indiana. I hope that any federal legislation will not supercede our current phone privacy laws. My household has gone from receiving multiple calls each evening to almost none, with the only ones received being for charitable donations.

Thanks you for considering my comments.